SIGNED NOTES IN BLANK FOR BOND BROKER WHO IS ON TRIAL

Mrs. A. Rogers of New London went on the stand in the criminal court in New London Thursday morning and told of her financial relations with Gordon Foster, stock and bond broker of that city, who is on trial on charges of forgery, embezzlement and obtaining money and money under false pretenses.

When questioned as to the signed notes to continue the trial today (Friday), the state was still introducing evidence against Foster.

Mrs. Rogers identified agreements in which she signed notes for money, whereby for a consideration of $2,000 she sold to her one-quarter interest in the business known as Foster & Co. She testified to her coming to her with the proposition and of her telling him no. He said to her, "You want to make money as well as I do," and told her she would make it in the company.

The witness testified that she did not have any money and he answered that she would not need any as all the business would be done on paper.

"The witness inquired if this was legal and he told her perfectly legal," she testified. She declared that Foster told her that he was doing so much business that he would have to form a company, of which he would be president, his wife secretary and Mrs. Rogers treasurer.

Mrs. Rogers said that she told him that it would be too much trouble and that he had better get somebody younger and Foster replied that his wife had nothing to do at the hotel and she would help him.

Foster told her, the witness testified that he wanted to help her as she had been good to him. "The money will come rolling in," the witness said. Foster told her, "It will be coming in so fast that you have never seen so much before."

Mrs. Rogers stated that she told him she would think about it and that he returned the next day and brought some papers with him to be signed. "I don't know anything about such things," the witness testified that she told him and he replied that "that is the way it has to be done" and that she would have to sign these notes. She said that she signed if there was any law in it. If she signed the notes and he replied, "Yes, indeed. What do you want I am going to do? Do you think I want to go to jail?"

The witness said that she told him she would sign the notes and papers if she could get them out of him and that he wanted to and Foster told her that she would get out tomorrow if she wanted to.

Signed About Ten Blank Notes.

Mrs. Rogers testified that she did not know how many notes she signed but it seemed as though there must have been ten and they were blank and on printed forms. She said that there was no one with Foster when she signed the notes.

GILBERT MURRAY WINS IN ART ESSAY COMPETITION

The Norwich Art Association has always aimed to make the Slater Museum a educative force in the community, particularly through the schools, and to that end arranged to have sixth grade pupils visit the museum each year.

The children are then required to write for their teachers a brief story of what they have seen, in a competition instituted by the art school.

These brief essays have now been submitted and in the opinion of the judges, the best story is that told by Gilbert Murray, of the sixth grade of Janney Hill school. This wins for that school a beautiful and artistic framed picture, its subject, Joan of Arc, the gift of Norwich Art Association.

Says Pile Remedy Worth $100 a Box

"I have had itching piles ever since my earliest recollection. I am 53 years old and have suffered terribly. I have tried many remedies and doctors, but nothing has helped me until I saw a year ago for Peterson's Ointment. The application stopped all itching, and in three days all sores were healed. I have only used one box and consider I am cured. You have my grateful, heartfelt thanks, and my grateful that has this trouble see this and give your ointment that is worth a hundred dollars or more a box, a trial. Sincerely yours, A. Newth, Columbus, Ohio."

Peterson's Ointment for piles, eczema and all sores is only 35 cents a large box at all drug stores. Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.

Mrs. Rogers said that the night of the day she signed the notes she could not sleep from thinking of it and the next day she sent for Foster and told him that she had changed her mind. She asked him to tear up the notes and she said that Foster took some papers out of his pocket and tore them up, saying they were the notes but when she asked him for the pieces, Foster put them in his pocket and said that he would destroy them. Later two notes, one for $200 and the other for $200, were presented to her for payment.

At this point her testimony was interrupted to put George B. Pres, vice-president of the National Bank of Commerce on the stand and he testified that last December Foster brought $11,500 worth of Liberty bonds into the bank for the bank to dispose of them.

Mrs. Minnie Adams of Willimantic gave testimony regarding the purchase by her husband of stock of the Seecings, Coach Works and her testimony was in corroboration of the testimony of her husband Wednesday afternoon.

The first witness Thursday morning was Attorney Thomas E. Troland who testified that he was the attorney for Samuel Adams and Minnie Adams of Willimantic against Gordon Foster and his wife, Marie Foster, on December 15. The suit was to recover a sum of money paid by Adams to Foster. He said that Foster's automobile was attached but that later an arrangement was made settling the case without consulting him.

Deputy Sheriff J. H. Tubbs testified to commencing a process against Foster by attaching an automobile which was returned and released on Dec. 19 on the authority of a letter from the Springfield Coach Works of Springfield.

Willimantic Man Testified.

Wednesday afternoon Samuel Adams of Willimantic was on the stand and testified to having purchased ten shares of preferred stock and five shares of common stock of the Springfield Coach Works for his wife and 20 shares of the preferred and ten shares of the common stock of the same company for himself from Foster, for which he was to pay $2,750. He said he gave Foster about $2,000 in Liberty bonds and $75 in cash in paying the balance due down to an amount so that by paying $150 a month the obligation would be discharged.

Mr. Adams recalled going down to New London with Robert A. Huchens, purchasing agent of the Springfield Coach Works to collect a balance which Foster owed the company and at that time he heard Foster say that the reason he had not paid was because he had "hard" money and he "couldn't" come across. Foster admitted at that time that he had spent the money for his own use. The witness told of an attachment being made on Foster's automobile which was found in front of the Mohican Hotel.

Under cross examination Mr. Adams said that Foster did not deny at that time that he owed the money and said that Foster said that it had been inconvenient for him to pay it but that he would offer an endorser on a note. The witness said that Mrs. Adams' stock had been fully paid for on Aug. 15 and that it was released on Dec. 17. He had not received his yet.

LIES LISBON CONSTABLE

Mary Smerechansky of Lisbon and Joseph, her husband, have brought suits in the superior court who charged respectively of $10,000 and $1,000 against Constable Merion Bugbee and Enoch Cheney, who was assisting the constable when they attempted to arrest Mrs. Smerechansky on March 23, 1922 at her home.

They succeeded in getting handcuffs on her, but she was able to break away from the officers with the help of her husband and she fled to the woods with the handcuffs still on and found her way to the office of Attorney Charles J. Steward in this city. Here the officers also arrived and took the handcuffs off the woman and allowed her to depart. They had gone to her house to serve a writ on which she was to be taken to jail for neglect to make payments to cover the amount which she had been fined for failure to send one of her children to school.

Now the husband and wife have brought the civil suits against Constable Bugbee and the man charged with him, who charged that they used unnecessary force and violence in attempting to make the arrest, aiming a revolver at her and threatening to shoot her, beating and kicking her and dragging her on the ground and handcuffing her. It is claimed that she was in a delicate condition at the time and as a consequence of the struggle with the officers, she had to have a Caesarian operation and was in the hospital six weeks.

EAST LYME SHORE FRONT

IS TO BE DEVELOPED

According to the certificate of incorporation filed with the secretary of state by the Giant's Neck Land and Improvement Co. of New Haven, the following list of officers will be connected with the project to develop the Giant's Neck section of the town of East Lyme as a summer resort. President and treasurer, Walter D. Brockett; vice president, David B. Brockett; secretary, Clarence L. Brockett. The trio of officers will also constitute the board of directors of the new organization.

The tract under development is the large stretch of shore property, fronting on the ocean in the neighborhood of the old fish works and has been a favorite camping place for vacationers and week-end parties of city folk. The standing timber on the property has been cut by the Brocketts and the land cleared up for sale purposes.

At a recent meeting of the legal election of the town of East Lyme, it was voted to appropriate $1,500 of town funds to construct a road leading from the state highway in the Little Boston section to the shore property at Giant's Neck and work will be begun shortly so as to provide easier accessibility to the shore resort under development. The townfolk regarded the matter as a simple business proposition, which will pay for itself through the added revenue from increased valuations.

CAPT LEAVITT WILL SALVAGE

MILLIONS FROM THE OCEAN

Captain Benjamin Franklin Leavitt, who was an officer of the Uncas Specialty Co. at Thomaston and the roller balling Co. at Greenwich, about 20 years ago, has invented a diving suit by which he expects to dig $1,000,000 from the bed of the Atlantic ocean.

The great treasure hunt—salvaging of the gold sunk with the Lusitania and Arabic—begins when the steamship Blakeley sails from Philadelphia May 25, stops at New York a few days and on June 5, starts for the spot eight miles off Kinsale Point, Ireland, where the Lusitania went down in 1915.

The expedition is costing $250,000 and some 600 stockholders are backing Leavitt. Divers will have to go down 250 feet to reach the Lusitania and 315 feet for the Arabic—twice as far, Leavitt says, as any diver has ever been able to go in an ordinary rubber diving suit.

Eight diving suits have been built in Leavitt's own factory at Philadelphia at a cost of $2,500 each. The Leavitt suit is made of manganese bronze, a quarter inch thick, the torso and headpiece solid and the arms and legs made of ribbons of bronze encased in rubber, with ball bearings at the shoulders.

Leavitt says a novice can go down in his suit from 200 to 500 feet and remain four hours.

Air is manufactured within the suit from a tube containing 8 cubic feet of oxygen and nitrogen drawn from a four-pound cylinder of caustic soda. A valve outlet discharges the air, keeping pure air circulating at least four hours.

The only line that connects the diver with the ship above will be a half-inch non-twisting cable that costs $1,125. Inside this will be a transmitter and receiver within the headpiece.

The diving suit weighs 350 pounds—but the enormous pressure of deep water reduces the weight on the ocean floor to 75 pounds.

Each ship has $5,000,000 in gold bars in her strong room, according to insurance records. Leavitt plans to lift the gold to the surface with a 20-ton boom.

He plans to lift intact the Lusitania's purse's safe which is estimated to contain $1,000,000 in money and jewelry. Very little is believed to be in the purse's safe of the Arabic which lies 48 miles from the Lusitania wreck.

"I will make the first trip down to the Lusitania," Leavitt said.

SUITS AGAINST SHORE LINE

TROUBLE FOR $10,000

Suits against the Shore Line Electric Railway Co. for total damages of $14,000 have been brought by the administrators of the estate of Mrs. Abine D. Donatello and by Salvatore Saballo. These suits are the result of an accident on the East Lyme road on Dec. 21, 1921, when a trolley car struck a motor truck owned by Salvatore Saballo who was taking on a load of furniture.

The truck was demolished and Saballo seeks to recover the sum of $4,000. At the time of the accident, Mrs. Abine D. Donatello was about to step aboard the truck and she was thrown to the ground by the collision and sustained injuries from which she died. Suit is brought for $10,000 damages for her death.

SPANISH WAR VETERANS

GREET INSPECTING OFFICERS

A regular meeting of R. S. Griswold Camp, No. 6, United Spanish War Veterans, was held at Buckingham Memorial Monday evening. There was a large attendance to greet Inspector General William Basely of New London and Department Inspector A. T. Dawson of South Norwalk. Department Commander Orin M. Price of the G. A. R. was also present.

Home business was transacted and plans for Memorial Day observance were discussed, after which the camp was inspected by Comrades Basely and Dawson. The members and guests then sat down to a shower supper after which cigars were passed and remarks for the good of the organization were made by Inspector General Basely, Department Inspector Dawson, Past Department Commander Fred P. Houston and Commander Price. An exemplification of the significance of the blue and gray uniform of the United Spanish War Veterans, which signifies the uniting of the north and south and the re-establishment of cordial relations after a period of over thirty years in the interval between the Civil war and the Spanish war, was an invitation extended to Commander Price by Comrade Dawson, to be the guest, should he ever be in New York, Va. of Lee Camp, Sons of Confederate Veterans. This invitation Comrade Dawson extended, as a past commander of Lee Camp and as the son of the chaplain of the 12th Virginia regiment of the Confederate army. Comrade Dawson assured Commander Price that he would be received in a much more cordial manner than he was sixty years ago.
